Welcome

September 9, 2016

This evening marks the Long Island Ducks 11th Annual Breast Cancer Awareness Night at Bethpage Ballpark, presented by the Northwell Health Cancer Institute. The Ducks are proud to be hosting this special event to assist in raising awareness of the deadly disease and are showing their support both on and off the field during tonight's contest against the Bridgeport Bluefish.

During the game, the Ducks will don special commemorative pink jerseys and pink hats. The jerseys will be part of a fundraising auction that runs through the seventh inning stretch of tonight's game. All net proceeds from the auction will be donated to the breast cancer awareness organizations in attendance tonight by the QuackerJack Foundation, the charitable arm of the Long Island Ducks. The Waddle In Shop will have Breast Cancer Awareness Night hats available for purchase as well.

As Long Island's hometown team, the Ducks have been widely involved in community efforts such as this one since the franchise's inception in 2000. Tonight, however, hits a little closer to home for Ducks founder and CEO, Frank Boulton.

"Over thirty years ago my mother, Dorothy Boulton, lost her battle with breast cancer," said Boulton. "As a husband and father of two daughters, I know the importance of breast cancer awareness. Our organization is proud to be able to host our 11th Annual event of this nature to raise breast cancer awareness across Long Island and to salute those organizations that are fighting hard to find a cure."

Several organizations and coalitions have teamed up with the Ducks to present this special evening (for a complete list of organizations involved, see below). Tickets have been donated to each organization, which they will be able to sell as a fundraiser, and each will have tables on the concourse to raise awareness of their unique breast cancer programs and support services.

The Northwell Health Cancer Institute has signed on as tonight's corporate sponsor. Without their generosity, this event could not have taken place. Tonight, they will help provide the first 1,500 fans in the ballpark with a commemorative pink t-shirt and, of course, our postgame Grucci Fireworks Extravaganza.

The Long Island Ducks would like to recognize the following organizations for their participation in the 11th Annual Breast Cancer Awareness Night:

Mission Statement:

Founded in 1993 by community activists concerned with the high incidence of breast cancer on Long Island, the Babylon Breast Cancer Coalition (BBCC) is a grass roots organization providing an array of patient support services, education and advocacy programs.

FROM THIS EARLY WORK GREW AN ORGANIZATION WITH FIVE ESSENTIAL GOALS.

Prevention

Support of the Precautionary Principle, Prevention is the Cure and Be Smart About Your Health, all designed to encourage adults and children about healthier lifestyle practices.

Research

To promote legislation to increase funding for environmental research and provide funding for specific breast cancer projects.

Education

By providing up-to-date information through our quarterly newsletter.

Services

To provide patient services that help relieve and alleviate the stress incurred by a cancer diagnosis and treatment.

Support

To provide support and referral services to breast and gynecological cancer survivors and their families.

Lend a Helping Hand: our patient service program continues to provide much needed services such as transportation, housecleaning, food services and childcare to those suffering the effects of chemo and radiation therapy from breast and gynecological cancers.

Mission Statement:

- To educate ourselves and others about the nature and possibility of breast cancer, and the need for prevention, monitoring, and treatment.
- To receive questions from community people and provide referrals when needed.
- To network with other breast cancer groups in order to share information and work together for education, legislation, and other common goals.
- To strengthen our community by responding to their needs and working together to address them.

The Brentwood / Bay Shore Breast Cancer Coalition is dedicated to maintaining breast health using a grassroots approach to raise individual and community awareness by positive actions. We focus on the causes of breast cancer, the need for prevention, monitoring, informed treatment and accessibility to health care. To that end we endeavor to serve our community through a support group, assistance to survivors and their families who are under-insured or uninsured, as well as supplementing those who are unable to work during treatment. We provide temporary assistance and support to pay for medical bills, help with housing costs, utilities and provide food vouchers to those in need.

History: Founded in 1994 in response to a PTA Council environmental issue with support from church groups, we are a 501(c)(3) organization for the purpose of research and education regarding breast cancer. We have accomplished our outreach program by means of health fairs and tabling at various different sites. We have provided breast health information at mammography sites, church functions, health spas and clubs in our area, as well as at local libraries. The founders sought to look for means of prevention to protect our children and reduce the progress of breast cancer.

We have a Spanish language hotline and conduct a Spanish language support Group that provides an environment to strengthen and empower our members through education and social interaction. For information regarding meetings call 631.951.6908.

Our regular monthly board meetings are held in English. Please call 631.273.9252 for further information.

CONTACT INFORMATION:

Phone: 631-638-1000

3 Edmund D. Pellegrino Road
Stony Brook, NY 11794-9452
www.cancer.stonybrookmedicine.edu

Mission Statement:

The Carol M. Baldwin Breast Care Center at Stony Brook University Cancer Center plays a leading role in providing key services to the region. Stony Brook's breast care program – the only comprehensive, academic program of its kind on Long Island – champions a multidisciplinary approach for the diagnosis and treatment of patients with breast conditions, including both benign and malignant disease.

At its core is our multidisciplinary Breast Cancer Management Team. To patients, this means an extraordinary range of clinical resources and technologies, a treatment plan tailor-made to their needs, and a caring, compassionate group of clinical experts providing encouragement every step of the way. Integral to the team are oncology-trained nurses who follow a model of patient and family centered care. We provide this extraordinary level of care to more than 450 newly diagnosed patients with breast cancer each year.

Clinical services include:

- Genetic Counseling - A specialized genetic counselor is available to women and families dealing with inheritable breast cancers.
- Lymphedema Program - In conjunction with the Department of Physical and Occupational Therapy, patients have access to a comprehensive, highly specialized lymphedema evaluation and treatment program. The lymphedema program incorporates the principles of CDT (Complete Decongestive Therapy) to address tissue swelling in individuals undergoing or having received treatment for cancer. For more information, call (631) 444-4240.
- Mamosite® Radiation – For patients with breast cancer, this treatment permits full lumpectomy radiation in five days for some cancers, instead of six weeks of external radiation. Its appropriateness depends on specific factors. Your doctor can advise you on this option.

Our exceptional clinical support services contribute to coordinated care. These include Nutrition Services, Pain Management, Palliative Care/Survivorship & Support, Financial Counselors, Pharmacy Services, Physical and Occupational Rehabilitation, Therapeutic Yoga, Reiki, Strength for Life, Look Good Feel Better, Chemotherapy Orientation, several Livestrong community initiatives, Patient Advocacy and Community Outreach and our Tumor Board. For additional information, please call 631-638-0004.

About Stony Brook University Cancer Center

The Cancer Center is Suffolk County's cancer care leader with more than 3,000 new patients and more than 20,000 inpatient and outpatient visits annually. The cancer program is accredited by the American College of Surgeons Commission on Cancer as a Teaching Hospital Cancer Program and received the Commission's Outstanding Achievement Award. The Carol M. Baldwin Breast Care Center was the first center in New York State to be accredited by the National Accreditation Program for Breast Centers.

Mission Statement:

The West Islip Breast Cancer Coalition for Long Island, Inc. (WIBCC) is a non-profit 501(c)3, grassroots organization founded in 1992 working to eradicate Breast Cancer and gynecological cancers. WIBCC was directly responsible for the first comprehensive cancer cluster survey in Suffolk County that led to a multiyear Long Island breast cancer study mandated by Congress in 1993. Our mission is to provide support services to women - undergoing treatment and requiring postoperative care - with our "Lend A Helping Hand" program, and to actively promote cancer and environmental awareness with education, advocacy, and outreach throughout the community.

- WIBCC holds fundraisers each year for the "Lend A Helping Hand" (LAHH) program. All the funds raised go to the women undergoing Chemotherapy and Radiation treatment, as well as post-operative breast cancer surgery without treatment. This program provides services to relieve some of the stresses and demands of everyday life often leaving them in need of a helping hand. We also support research programs with the latest state of the art findings.
- WIBCC provides heartfelt support, encouragement and guidance to each and every LAHH patient and their families.
- WIBCC strives to raise awareness in the field of Breast and Gynecological Cancers through educational seminars our Board and Advocates attend, reporting to the community the latest findings.
- WIBCC advocates that "Prevention Is The Key", encourage self-awareness, regular doctor care, healthy diet and exercise.
- WIBCC presents an Educational Community Brunch each year with very informative, prominent and highly educated speakers in the Breast and Gynecological Cancer field.
- WIBCC partners with Good Samaritan Hospital Breast Health Center, The Woman's Program and Cancer Services working together as a community of help and assistance to every woman in need.
